Missouri approves Medicaid adult dental program

This week, Missouri Governor Jay Nixon announced that funding is in place for the state's new Medicaid adult dental benefit. The state collected $35 million in delinquent taxes which will fund both the new adult dental benefit and a one percent increase in the rates paid to Medicaid providers.

Over 280,000 Missouri adults will have access to the new benefit, which will cover preventive services, restorative services, periodontal treatment, oral surgery, extractions, radiographs, pain evaluation and relief, infection control, and general anesthesia. Prior to

In a press release, Governor Nixon said, "Healthy communities are strong communities, so I'm pleased that the dollars are available to fund these services, while keeping the budget in balance,"

Congratulations Sonja!

Healthy New Year's Resolutions

He went on to say, "Moving forward, these kinds of services are simply too critical to be put at risk by funding them with one-time sources of revenue. That's why it's important that we continue to keep our fiscal discipline for the remainder of this fiscal year, so that next year's budget can include ongoing and sustainable funding for developmental disability providers - and others who care for our most vulnerable citizens."

The Kansas Medicaid program known as KanCare covers emergency dental services for adults. Preventive dental services such as an exam and cleanings are offered to adults enrolled in KanCare by the state's contracted managed care organizations Sunflower Health Plan, Amerigroup and United Healthcare.

Dental benefits for adults enrolled in Medicaid programs are considered to be optional services, and Kansas has not had a full benefit for all adults enrolled in Medicaid/KanCare. In FY 2011, Kansas spent $1.4 million SGF on emergency dental services for approximately 12,000 adults. In that year, the Medicaid program estimated it would cost $4.3 million SGF to offer a full dental benefit for over 198,000 adults.

resolutions for kids. For kids age 5-12, one of the resolutions was to drink water daily. Since younger kids are not able to create their own resolutions, it's important for parents to share these ideas with their kids, as well as follow the ideas themselves.

Medicaid Expansion considered at Johnson County forum

On January 5, about 300 people, gathered at the Johnson County Community College to learn about Medicaid expansion and how the conservative state of Indiana was able to expand its program a year ago. This forum was similar to a Wichita forum in November 2015.

Doug Leonard, President of the Indiana Hospital Association, spoke about the Medicaid expansion process in Indiana, the Healthy Indiana Plan (HIP) 2.0. The plan requires consumers to pay a minimal monthly contribution toward their coverage based on their income. The state cigarette tax and an assessment on providers funds HIP.

Leonard reminded Kansans that expanding Medicaid is not helping "able bodied citizens." He told the forum attendees that you really have to put a name with a face and you can't turn your backs on them. "These are real people. People who are employed."

Senator Laura Kelly drew an analogy about the state's responsibilities, "We have a responsibility to educate everyone. We also have a responsibility to provide health care for all".

The KHI News Service and Heartland Health Monitor reported on the forum and noted that the theme of the event was, "If policymakers in deep-red Indiana can do it, so can their equally conservative counterparts in Kansas."

Although it was not confirmed whether KanCare expansion would be a topic for the 2016 legislative session, forum attendees encouraged a continued discussion. Kansas is one of the 20 states that has not expanded its Medicaid program.
